A friend encouraged me to pursue my passion in working cow-horse. As a student, I have demonstrated my passion, motivation and dedication for learning. My goal is to become a rider with light hands and possess the ability to get along with any horse.

To reach my goal, I am looking for a trainer in the ranch/cow-horse industry. At the same time I would need a salary and a place to live. Please keep in mind I have a strong work ethic and I am enthusiastic and very flexible.

RELATED EXPERINCE

Julius Mihaley, Director of Riding, Ethel Walker School for Girls: Rode hunter, jumper and dressage horses.

Teela -Wooket Camp, Roxbury, Vermont: Obtained teaching and stable management certification.

Mark Teal Cutting Horses, Carbondale, Colorado: Loped cutting horses, started colts and performed ranch caretaking duties.

Sheri Gilkerson Reining Cow Horses, Carbondale Colorado: Loped client's horses and worked with yearlings.

Ranch Management: Managed my own small ranch for over 20 years. I raised horses, sheep, chickens and cattle. Held sessions for school aged children on the importance of land stewardship and safe horsemanship.

CLINICIANS AND EDUCATORS

My Grandfather, Tony Russo, ignited my passion and instilled the importance of inner calm while working with horses. My formal education began with the English disciplines and through the years I have learned other disciplines with many well known horsemanship clinicians including: Buck Branaman, Peter Campbell, Ray Hunt and Martin Black. My roping skills have improved and strengthened thanks to the help of Bob King and Dan Moyer. I continue to seek an eclectic mix of riding with Natural Horsemanship and Vaquero Traditions.
